cameras and you have to shower in a bikini as it's on film in there too. "I don't know what I think about everyone seeing me in the shower!"

Well, it doesn't sound bad to us, especially if the saucy former Miss Sweden takes a few gal pals with her.

She goes on: "I would love to be in Big Brother with Abi Titmuss."

"I bet she'd tell lots of dirty stories, that would be funny. I love flirting with girls. It's a super-exciting feeling for me."

But her ideal partner would always be a superhero. And she admits to a soft spot for her other favourite superhero, the Incredible Hulk.

She confesses: "I used to watch the Hulk when I was growing up. I loved him to bits. So I'd love a big strong man in the Big Brother house, someone like Calum Best."

"I would also love to go into the house with Robbie Williams. And a good cook like Jamie Oliver, he'd be fun - plus he'd cook me loads of fantastic food. Heaven!"

Spider-Man 2 is out today on VHS and DVD, courtesy of Columbia TriStar Home Entertainment. The two-disc DVD is full of spidey action.

Just Jane

JANE O'GORMAN SOLVES YOUR PROBLEMS TODAY AND EVERY DAY

Lover's a porn addict

MY boyfriend looks at porn on the internet when I'm not around and has admitted that he pleasures himself while doing it. I'm really upset, because this makes me feel so inadequate. I've tried talking to him about it, but all he says is: "Deal with it, because I'm not going to change."

I thought that he might suggest that we watch it together. But he simply says he's not cheating on me, so I shouldn't make such a fuss.

It was actually his idea for me to write to you, because he says the majority of blokes do it. I'm worried that he's turning to porn because I'm not experienced enough or giving him sufficient pleasure.

We have an OK sex life, but am I being unreasonable in asking him to stop?

I'm 21, he's 28 and we've been together for four years. I feel on the verge of breaking up with him.

JANE SAYS: Yes, some men do look at internet porn. But it's wrong of your boyfriend to suggest that all men do it, so that makes it OK.

If it's not OK with YOU, then that's something you both need to talk about and deal with.

It sounds as if your boyfriend is taking a very bullish attitude towards this. I suggest that you ask him to calm down and talk sensibly about how you're feeling.

Tell him that his habit is undermining your confidence and upsetting you. He may not be cheating on you physically, but his mind is certainly in another place when he's online.

Ask him to respect your feelings and work with you to find a solution. Perhaps switching off the computer and having a few early nights might be a good start.

If he's not willing to meet you halfway, perhaps he's not the man for you.

TWO weeks ago, I published this letter from a reader who wanted your advice...

FOR the past eight months I've been having sex with both of my female flatmates. If I feel horny, and one of them is up for it, then we just hit the sack.

Now one of the girls has started getting serious, saying I must choose between them and ditch the other. I just know that this is going to lead to complications. The other girl is pretty headstrong and I know that she'll resent being ganged up on.

Here's some of your replies...

I DON'T envy your reader one bit. A couple of years ago, I found myself torn between two lovers and it wasn't pleasant.

The two girls fought over me like a cat and dog. They did my head in with their constant demands. I'm now single and feel far better off without either of them.

NAME WITHHELD.

YOUR reader is an idiot if he thinks he can continue to play one girl off against the other. An ex boyfriend did that to me. He was dating me and my mate. In the end, she and I had a brief sexual relationship of our own. It was lovely!

Ms JULIE FIELD, Leicester. I COULDN'T believe my eyes when I read this man's "problem". My heart bleeds. No wonder there are so many sexually transmitted diseases around when idiots like him are at large.

COLIN GROVES, Bristol. NOW what should this reader do? Write to the address below. A selection will be printed in TWO weeks...

MY 13-year old daughter has come under the influence of a much older girl. They spend all their time together and I don't like the person my daughter is turning into. Suddenly she's become sulky and rude, and I don't know where she is from one minute to the next. Her new best friend is 19 and something of a tough cookie.

My husband isn't unduly worried because our daughter has always been mature for her age. But I haven't told him that she didn't come home the other night and that money has started going missing.

How dare she nick my dosh?

MY adult granddaughter is refusing to pay back some cash I lent her.

She claimed at the time that she needed £300 to tax the car her father had just given her.

The agreement was that she'd pay me back in two weeks. Well, it's now two years and I'm no closer to getting my money.

Her father has ordered her to pay it back and I've even got the Citizen's Advice Bureau to write a letter addressed to her husband, but it's all been ignored.

The last time we spoke was a year ago. I rang her up and asked for the money, but she just said: "You'll get it when I'm good and ready" and slammed the phone down.

I just don't understand what's going on. Both she and her husband work and earn good money.

When my husband was terminally ill, she was a great help. Despite living 50 miles away, she'd come and give support when it was needed.

But I always made sure that she was never left out of pocket by paying her petrol expenses, which totalled about £150.

Over the years, I've also treated her to a car, paid for half her wedding and made her bridesmaids' dresses.

I also supported her when she had a baby out of wedlock. I looked after the child so she could carry on working. I've done so much out of love, but now she's acting like a stranger.

All I want is my money back and I don't know what else I can do.

I CAN'T GET IT UP

I'M 22 and struggle to get it up for women. I worry that I might be gay.

I recently met this really fit girl in a nightclub - at least, my mates thought she was fit. She was clearly into me and I agreed to go back to her place for "coffee".

But when we got down to it, I couldn't get an erection without thinking about a particular guy.

Lately, I've been finding myself aroused by men, even when I'm walking down the street. In particular, I'm very keen on my best mate.

JANE SAYS: It's not unusual to be sexually attracted to people of the opposite sex and the same sex at one time or another. According to the Teenage Health Freak website, about one in every 26 men aged 16 to 19 report having had a homosexual experience.

But the number of older men who end up being gay is far lower.

There's a possibility that you could be bisexual, in which case you fancy men and women. But I suggest that you give yourself more time before deciding what you are.

Spend time with your friends, but don't feel pressurised to have sex with anyone you don't want to.

If it turns out that you are gay, then that's absolutely fine. Call the Lesbian and Gay Switchboard (020 7837 7324) if you ever need to talk.

JANE SAYS: You could go to a local solicitor and ask him or her to write a letter on your behalf. Something written on official-looking notepaper might just make your granddaughter sit up and take notice.

Unfortunately, dealing with the legal profession will cost you more money. You've got to decide where you draw the line.

My gut instinct is to suggest that you forget all about the money and get on with your life.

Admittedly £300 is a lot of money and there's a principal at stake here, but you could make yourself ill worrying about this cash.

You've tried to get it back and so has your son, and so far neither of you has had any luck.

It's obvious that your granddaughter is a pretty stubborn and ungrateful sort of woman.

She apparently chooses to forget the things you've done for her in the past and that's very sad, but you can't let this one small matter ruin the rest of your life.

I suggest that you wipe the slate clean and vow never to lend anyone anything again.

COMING SOON

NEXT WEEK: The Americans continue to win World War Two on their terms in the splendidly silly Churchill: The Hollywood Years. Christian Slater stars as Winston, with Harry Enfield (above) as the King and the flick even features Hollywood's Neve "Scream" Campbell.

THE WEEK AFTER: Andrew Lloyd Webber's celebrated musical version of The Phantom Of The Opera hits the big screen, starring Gerard Butler as The Phantom alongside Emmy Rossum and Minnie Driver.

SUITS YOU: Kevin and Kate turn on the style as they turn back the clock to the 60s

Kevin dazzles as Bobby

STAR'S RIGHT ON SONG

BELTER: Spacey's stunning as tragic Darin

BEYOND THE SEA (12A)
"I WANT it all," announced go-getting singing star Bobby Darin back in the 1960s.

And for a while the American had the lot – a string of hits including Dream Lover and Mac the Knife, a movie career and marriage to Hollywood star Sandra Dee.

Kevin Spacey's standout portrait of Darin and his superb singing commands the screen in a fascinating rags-to-riches biopic he co-wrote and directed and, for good measure, co-produced.

Darin, born in the Bronx as Walden Robert Cassotto, wasn't expected to live to 15 after rheumatic fever damaged his heart. But driven by ambition he found singing, acting and song-writing stardom.

Hollywood beckoned and he met and married Sandra Dee while they were filming Come September (fortunately Dee ignored her mum's plea to concentrate on Rock Hudson, who turned out to be gay).

In true Tinseltown tradition, collapsing careers and fading fame strained their relationship. They parted and Darin had to revamp his singing style to make a memorable Las Vegas comeback before his death in 1973, aged just 37.

Terrific

Spacey belts out the songs brilliantly and, despite being older than Darin, his fantastic performance soon makes you forget he doesn't really resemble his subject.

Kate Bosworth does well as forgotten star Dee, William Ullrich is terrific as young all-singing, all-dancing Bobby, Brenda Blethyn scores as his mum and if you fancy unintentional laughs Bob Hoskins' ludicrous American accent is a hoot.

But it's Kevin's triumph on both sides of the camera: he's a genuine Bobby dazzler!

I HEART HUCKABEES (12A)

LISTEN carefully, I shall say this only once – depressed conservationist Jason Schwartzman hires seriously daft Existential Detectives' (whatever that means) Dustin Hoffman and Lily Tomlin to find out the meaning of his life.

Jude Law (yes, him again) plays the hunky face of the land-greedy Huckabees Corporation, and fellow Brit Naomi Watts is his girl.

Co-writer/director David O Russell, who struck gold revamping Kelly's Heroes as Three Kings, here turns lead into dung with an absurd fantasy that makes no sense, wastes its cast and budget and would waste your time too.

VERDICT: 2/10

LAW-FUL: Even Jude and Naomi can't save this stinker

DOWN 'N DIRTY

ENDURING LOVE (15)

DANIEL Craig and three other men race to the rescue of an out-of-control hot air balloon but one man is killed. Craig suffers mightily from guilt and, making it worse, he's then stalked by deranged Rhys Ifans.

Sadly the striking opening is followed by a typhoon of pretensions hot air in this sleep-inducing "thriller".

VERDICT: 1/10

MY HOUSE IN UMBRIA (12A)

MAGGIE Smith does the Full Luvvie thing and it paid off when she won an Emmy for her screen-stealing portrait of a best

VERDICT: 5/10

ANATOMY OF HELL (18)

FRENCH writer/director Catherine Breillat's film, in which a woman pays a gay man to "watch" her, sounds like a joke. But there are no laughs in this steamy sex show which proves the way to get porn past the censor is to subtitle it and pass it off as "Art".

VERDICT: Smut sells

Julie's gonna jolt you

THE FORGOTTEN (12A)

IS the ever more paranoid Julianne Moore simply imagining she had a son who died in an air crash?

Her worried husband and her shrink certainly think so, but nothing and nobody are what they seem to be in this intriguing sci-fi thriller.

Moore (pictured) joins forces with Dominic West, who's also "forgotten" his daughter as suspense scrapes your nerves raw. The pair face danger and death together as they fight to uncover an evil alien abduction plot-threatening planet earth.

Director Joseph Ruben maintains a brisk pace throughout and stages shocks guaranteed to jolt you out of your seat.

Moore and West give potent performances and if this flick seems like a big budget X-Files episode, that's no bad thing!

Stepford Wives up for grabs

TAKE a chilling classic, rework it as a comedy thriller, add an all-star cast - and you've got sparkling new DVD release The Stepford Wives.

Nicole Kidman stars alongside Matthew Broderick, Bette Midler, Christopher Walken, Glenn Close and Faith Hill in this clever take on the American dream.

And to celebrate its home release, we're got 20 copies up for grabs.

When the high-powered career of Manhattan TV Executive Joanna Eberhart (Kidman) comes to an abrupt end, she has a nervous breakdown.

Odd

Her husband Walter Kresby (Broderick) moves the family to the idyllic community of Stepford in Connecticut for a happier, simpler life.

They are welcomed by locals Claire Wellington (Close) and her husband Mike (Walken), but Joanna notices something odd about the place. The Stepford women are all beautiful bimbos, slaves to their nerdish men.

Teaming up with two fellow newcomers - writer Bobbi (Midler) and gay architect Roger (Roger Bart) - Joanna discovers what has happened to the wives. And she realises she may be next...

We've joined forces with Universal Pictures Video to give away 20 DVDs of this hot flick. To win one, just answer this question: In the movie, in which American state is the town of Stepford?

Calling our hotline on 0905 072 3233, or text FILM followed by a space, give your answer, name and address, and send to 83426.

Calls cost 75p a minute from a BT landline and should last no longer than two minutes. Texts cost £1, plus your usual network rate. Usual Daily Star rules apply.

TOP TIP

SPIDER-MAN 2 (PG) (COLUMBIA TRISTAR DVD/VHS)
If you're looking for a better blockbuster, forget it - this is as good as it gets!

Tobey Maguire's back as web-slinging Spider-Man - but being a celebrated superhero has drawbacks...when he's complimented on his gaudy get-up he remarks, "It's kind of itchy. It sometimes rides up in the crotch, too".

Perhaps that's one reason why he thinks he's made a major mistake by dumping girlfriend Kirsten Dunst and settling instead for a dicey double life as college student Peter Parker and his crimefighting alter-ego.

Director Sam Raimi brilliantly balances Peter's problems (not enough sleep, a crap job delivering pizza and, especially, a broken heart) with lashings of fabulous fantasy action.

Maguire makes Peter and his emotional angst genuinely moving and he's equally impressive when he blazes into action again as our hero.

But Peter finally accepts his destiny after he saves a child from a burning building.

"I'm back! I'm back!" he cries triumphantly followed by "My back! My back!" as he crashes to earth because of his lack of practice.

Spider-Man has to soar to new heights to save New York when scientist Alfred Molina's experiments misfire leaving him with monstrous writhing metal limbs growing from his spine, a nasty nature and escalating madness.

Before long Molina is stomping Manhattan and wreaking havoc - it's up to Spider-Man to bring him down.

THE COEN BROTHERS COLLECTION (15) (UNIVERSAL DVD)
BEFORE they sold out with the vacant Intolerable Cruelty and the intolerable Tom Hanks remake of The Ladykillers, Joel and Ethan Coen made some of the best, most unusual films in Hollywood.

Their classic first offering, Blood Simple, is a masterly thriller giving star M Emmett Walsh the role of his career as a seedy Texan private eye who turns crooked, while The Big Lebowski is a weird and wonderful comedy about kidnapping and worse, showcasing Jeff Bridges and John Goodman.

Hollywood is wickedly satirised when writer John Turturro tries his hand in 1940s Tinseltown in the cheerfully cruel Barton Fink, while Paul Newman made a comeback as a top executive while Tim Robbins is happily less po faced than usual in gripping fantasy drama The Hudsucker Proxy.

FAMILY CHOICE

GARFIELD THE MOVIE (U) (FOX DVD/VHS)

GARFIELD, the comic strip hero who, by his own admission is a "happy, fat, lazy cat", is stirred to action when his master's new pet, daft dog Odie, is abducted by a weird TV show host.

The fat feline is soon flung into a frenzy of action that forces him to quit being a slob and become a hero - which, as his fans will know, is against all his instincts.

British director Peter Hewitt keeps the fun moving and doesn't patronise his highly unlikely furry hero.

BEST BUY

LOVE ACTUALLY/BRIDGET JONES' DIARY/NOTTING HILL (15) (UNIVERSAL DVD £32.99)

HUGH Grant is in unbeatable form and easily out-charms namesake Cary in this perfect collection of comedies - thanks in no small measure to the brilliant writing of Richard Curtis.

The cracking Love Actually finds Hugh romancing tea lady Martine McCutcheon and sending up US President Billy Bob Thornton as the best PM we never had.

Thanks to Hugh's cynical producer, the original Bridget Jones' Diary shows up the sequel as just a pale shadow.

And Hugh strikes again when playing a London bookseller who slips between the sheets with visiting Hollywood star Julia Roberts in Notting Hill.

MIKE WARD WHAT'S HOT TO WATCH

EASTENDERS: the story so far. Dennis (the small version) has returned to Albert Square, claiming that he's finally got his head together and that dippy Zoe is the girl for him. Sharon, however, has spent the week insisting that the bloke is talking out of his bottom, or words to that effect, and that she's the one he's really in love with. As we rejoin the action tonight (BBC1, 8pm), Zoe is sporting a spectacular shiner but, rather than admit it's because she and Sharon were trying to claw each other's faces off last night, she's dreamed up a really plausible explanation. "I was shifting some boxes," she tells Charlie The Chump, "and I fell over." (Mind you, if you happened to notice her hilariously inept attempt to fill a kettle during one of last night's scenes, you might feel such a level of moronic clumsiness isn't entirely beyond her). Sharon, meanwhile, remains convinced that fate is on her side. "We've got to face it, Dennis, it's going to happen," she goes, pulling her finest bunny-boiler face. "It's just a case of when, really. Maybe that's the best bit. A bit of foreplay..."

...on last night's telly

BLACKPOOL has been hogging the limelight for the past few Thursday nights. But now it's having to fight for our attention with another seaside city - Swansea, the setting for the rollicking new comedy-drama MINE ALL MINE (ITV1).

For the first few minutes, it was like watching a remake of The Darling Buds Of May. Quietly-spoken young man finds himself miles away from home among chaotic family and falls for fiery daughter. Father is amiable scruffybag and mother is... well, that's where the Vivaldi of Wales part company with the Larkins of Kent. Because I don't recall Ma nipping out for nookie once a week with the eggman. Danny Baveystock (Jo Stone-Fewings) is a suit from a London firm of auctioneers who travels to Swansea to value what Max Vivaldi (Griff Rhys Jones) thinks is a valuable old phone.

Lovely

"It was on the telly" declared Max. "They said if you find one of these tucked away in your attic, you're laughing." His daughter, Maria (Siwan Morris), snorted: "What channel was this? UK Bollocks?"

The phone turned out to be worth no more than a couple of hundred quid, but what did catch Danny's eye - apart from the lovely Maria - was a will written in 1710 by one of Max's ancestors who had once owned a stretch of land that is now Swansea.

Before you know it, an army of valuers, lawyers and PR men descended on Max's terraced house. The will was for real and Swansea belonged... not to Max, but his ancient, cantankerous half-Italian father.

This was a breezy start to what promises to be a hugely enjoyable series, oozing with feelgood factor.

My only problem is with Rhys Jones's wandering 'Welsh' accent. Max is supposed to be part-Italian, not part-Pakistani.

ROUND CROSSWORD

Find the answer to each clue in the grid. Each word starts in its numbered square and proceeds to an adjacent square horizontally or vertically in either direction (but not diagonally). The last letter of each answer starts the next. We've given you one answer to start you off.

- | | |
|--------------------|------------------------------------|
| 1 Desert | 6 Dining surface cover |
| 2 Essential | 7 Mouth organ |
| 3 Sunny colour | 8 Give up the throne |
| 4 Goods depot | 9 Fizziness |
| 5 First, time-wise | 10 Furthest towards the rising sun |

Can you put these 12 three-letter syllables into the 12 numbered boxes to produce 12 six-letter words, each of which starts in one box and finishes in the box indicated by an arrow? For instance, 2 and 5 make a six-letter word, but not 5 and 9. One group of three letters has been filled in to start you off

CAN you crack the Alphabeater? It's a twist on our popular Alphapuzzle, designed to stretch your mental muscles to the limit. Each grid number represents a letter – or black square. As in Alphapuzzle, every letter of the alphabet is used. But now you have to complete the grid too! Use the given letter or letters and the given black square or squares – below the main grid – to start.

To add to the fiendish fun, Alphabeater is 'rotationally symmetrical'. So, for example, if there is a six-letter word Across which starts in the top left corner, there will be a corresponding six-letter word Across which ends in the bottom right corner square. Every black square has one such symmetrical 'twin', but the 'twin' may not always share the same number. This can help you identify other black squares.

Of course, if the centre square is black, it has no corresponding 'twin'. Solution Monday: Stuck? Try the Extra Letter Line below: (Deduct three minutes for each extra clue letter heard.) Callers will also be given two black square numbers free of any penalty.

Calls cost 75p per minute from BT landlines.

TARGET TIME: 37 minutes

Yesterday's solution: Black squares: 2, 3, 5, 6, 8, 9, 11, 13, 14, 16, 25, 27, 28, 30.

Across: Fireman, Equip, Flannel, Gel, Heal, Hassle, Monkey, Biopsy, Intact, Swim, Arm, Explore, Solar, Delayed.

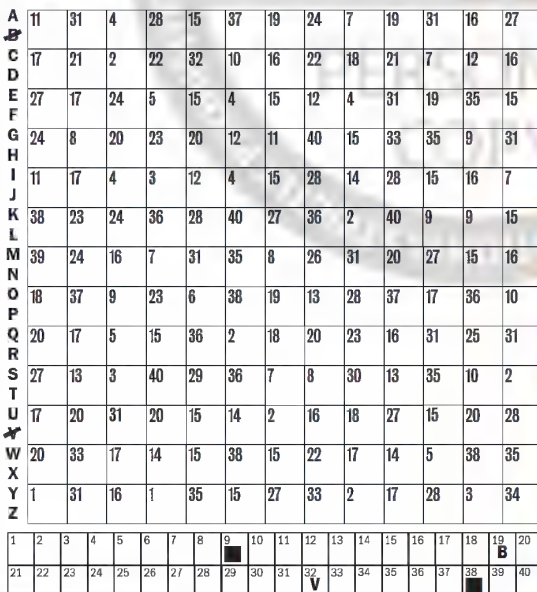

Down: Faith, Malaise, Refrain, Imply, Meat, Seltzer, Ninja, Coped, Elastic, Doll, Lounge, Powdery, Apology, Moved.

Today's solution 0905 072 0754 Extra letter clues 0905 072 0755

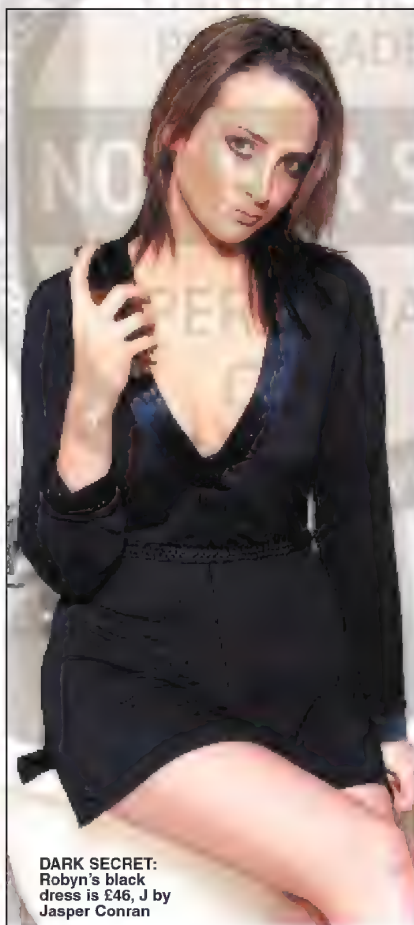

Alternatively, text DSBEAT to 83426 and we will text the six Extra Letter clues to your mobile. Texts cost £1 plus your usual operator rate.

Notice of Creditors' Meeting in Administration Proceedings

PowerPlan Company Ltd

(In Administration)

In accordance with Rule 2.18 of the Insolvency Act 1986, notice is hereby given that a meeting of creditors in the above matter is to be held:

Place: The Clyde Auditorium, Scottish Exhibition Centre, Glasgow, G3 8YW
Date: 13th December 2004
Time: 13:00 hrs

to consider the proposals of the Administrator of PowerPlan Company Limited, Douglas MacDonald, under Section 23(1) of the Insolvency Act 1986 and to consider establishing a creditors' committee.

A copy of the Administrator's proposals will be available on the PowerPlan website: www.powerplanadministration.co.uk from 6th December 2004. A creditor who cannot access the internet may obtain a copy, free of charge, from the Administrator at the address set out below. Copies of the proposals will also be available at the meeting.

At the meeting a creditor will be entitled to vote only if he has given to the Administrator, at the address set out below, not later than 12:00 noon on Friday 10th December 2004, details in writing of the debt which he claims to be due to him from PowerPlan Company Limited and if the claim has been duly admitted under the provisions of rule 2.22 of the Insolvency Rules 1986.

Creditors who are unable to attend the meeting and wish to be represented should complete and lodge a proxy form with the Administrator, at the address below, by the date of the meeting. Alternatively, the representative may produce a form of proxy at the meeting. Forms of proxy are available on the PowerPlan website specified above. A creditor who cannot access the internet may obtain a form from the Administrator at the address set out below.

AFFAIR

IT'S going to be a sizzling affair when the girls let their hair down on the sexy soap Family Affairs.

The show's sauciest sirens have donned their hottest outfits and cracked open the bubbly to celebrate the programme's 2,000th episode on Five today.

The cute quartet of Carryl Thomas, Rebecca Hunter, Anna Acton and latest recruit Robyn Page have all added plenty of gorgeous glamour to the show and proved that they're a bunch of hungry man-eaters.

In the 2,000th episode Rebecca's character Melanie Costelloe ditches her husband after discovering that he's gay.

"She's distraught and angry," says the 23-year-old Northampton babe.

"But at least now I'll be able to get stuck in with some of the nice new actors!" Raunchy Robyn, 23, from Essex has already been working her way through Charnham's chaps since making her telly debut on the show in October, playing Katie Williams.

Now the former model is all set to have a steamy affair with older man Pete Callan, played by David Easter.

As if he hadn't got problems enough - the current storyline with wife Eileen (actress Rosie Rowell) which has seen him being framed for murder, reaches a dramatic climax in the special episode.

by LOMA-ANN BONNER

"David is a pleasure to work with," says Robyn. "I'd never done a screen kiss before and he was lovely," she smiles.

Carryl's character, new mum Kelly Boulter, is more of a good girl.

But off-screen the single London beauty has a whole list of blokes that she'd love to invite to an intimate soiree.

"Shane Lynch is gorgeous," gushes 26-year-old Carryl, "but I also love actors like Hugh Grant, Richard E Grant and Benicio del Toro."

Mates

So, join the queue boys! And Anna, 27, who plays Ceri Evans - who is diagnosed with leukemia - would love her funny bone tickled by comedian Peter Kaye.

After three years on the show the gorgeous babe is moving on to pastures new, but not before she joins in the Family Affairs shindig.

"I'm so proud of being involved with the soap," says Anna. "I've made some great mates and I'll really miss everyone."

All the fab four need to do now is whip off the curlers, stick on their fave cheesy pop tunes and light up the dance floor with some sexy moves.

● You can catch the 2,000th episode of Family Affairs tonight at 6.30pm on Five.

MARKET LEADER: Tesco is really powering into profit under Sir Terry Leahy

Tesco boom

TESCO is on track to smash the £2 billion profit barrier this year.

The store, led by Sir Terry Leahy, yesterday reported a surge in non-food markets such as clothing and DVDs, while international stores also performed well.

Analysts described the latest figures as "stunning" and upgraded their forecasts for this year and next. Shares closed up 10.75p at 308.75p, an all-time high.

by TONY LEONARD

Tesco sales soared 12.2% in the three months to November 20, the retailer said yesterday.

In the UK, same-store sales' growth, excluding petrol, was 7.5% as the grocer turned up the heat on rivals by cutting prices.

The strong growth came despite reports that consumers had tightened their purse strings.

The British Retail Consortium reported that retail sales grew at their slowest pace in October since the start of 2004.

Hit

International sales were also extremely buoyant, up 11.9% in the third quarter.

Tesco said its range of value electrical goods was proving a big hit, with 20,000 kettles, at £5.76 each, particularly popular. Leahy's supermarket chain has regularly taken customers from its rivals this year.

Over the past 12 months its share of the grocer market has risen to 28.3% from 26.5% last November.

Simon Proctor, analyst at Charles Stanley, said: "The bears' concern that this would be the year that Sainsbury's and the old Safeway business fought back have clearly proved to be unfounded."

There was speculation earlier this week of a merger with French supermarket group Carrefour, but Tesco declined to comment on the rumours.

News of Tesco's continuing strength came as a Liberal Democrat MP welcomed calls for an investigation into supermarkets' domination of the grocery market.

Andrew George, their agriculture secretary, said the buying power of supermarkets was "killing off" independent retailers and creating an unhealthy dependence among farmers.

HOT GOSSIP

AIM-listed telematics firm CybIT was one of the market's star performers yesterday, gaining 0.33p or 18% to 2.15p on brisk trading. There was speculation the company was close to securing another contract following a recent tracking device supply deal with Sainsbury's.

Bank is feeling pinch

A SLOWDOWN in mortgage sales caused by rising interest rates and intense competition has stunted growth at Barclays high-street banking division.

The bank said "pressures within the mortgage business" had offset increases in the number of people opening new accounts to ensure a "flat" performance.

Mortgage profit margins have been squeezed by successive interest rate rises, forcing Barclays to sacrifice volume growth through offering cheap deals to focus on more profitable business.

Its share of new mortgage lending has slipped as a result.

News of the slowdown came just days after the bank's chief economist warned house prices could fall by as much as 20% from their current levels.

Analysts also feared interest rate rises were beginning to hit profits at Barclaycard.

Shares in the group tumbled by 15.5p to 545p as cost increases outstripped income growth during the third quarter to September, continuing a trend established in the first half.

Hell for hols firm

ONLINE travel company Lastminute.com yesterday announced that its earnings had failed to reach promised levels.

The company's shares lost 13%, falling 15.5p to 104.25p.

Chief executive and co-founder Brent Hoberman said: "Our financial performance has fallen short of expectations."

David Howell, finance director since 2001, is quitting with no job to go to.

WHO'S DEALING

HOUSEHOLD products firm Maybourn Group eased 1.5p to 272.5p as managing director Michael Samuel sold down his stake. Samuel netted £540,000 after disposing of 200,000 shares at 270p, leaving him with 9,218 million shares or 42.4%. Shares have risen 25% since January.

Future's mapped out

SALES have soared at bike and car parts retailer Halfords since its flotation in June.

Demand for satellite navigation and radar detection equipment led the sales surge.

But the company, founded in 1892, said yesterday that stores with mezzanine conversions had performed particularly well.

The space provided by the newly-created intermediate floors had given a boost to the converted stores. "For stores that have been converted, we have seen like-for-like growth of around 21%," said finance director Nick Carter.

With just a fraction of its 393 stores converted so far, this added little to the group's maiden set of results. But sales were still up 12.7% in the six months to October with pre-tax profits leaping 170% to £26.5 million.

MOTOR MOUTH

WIN MAGIC GADGET TO BEAT COPS

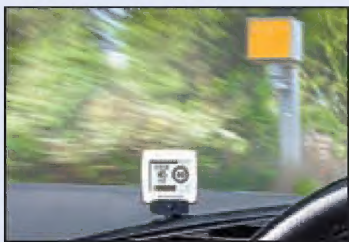

CHRISTMAS is coming and – full of cheer as usual – the cops are out to get you. Cameras, laser guns, you name it ... ho, ho, ho you're nicked.

Even if you are Santa.

There's a whole army of unofficial tax collectors out there, and drivers are their target. But there is a way you can fight back, and that's by fitting your motor with a perfectly legal warning system to protect your wallet and your licence.

And that's why this week I've got two absolutely fantastic £399 micro RoadPilot units to give away.

Do these things work? I'll say they do. For the past week I've been trying out a micro RoadPilot, and it's brilliant. It's easy to fit, and transferable from car to car, so you don't have to worry if you have to change motors. For a distance of up to two miles (you can set your own range) the micro RoadPilot warns of speed cameras and all types of cop traps by emitting a series of different sounding beeps, according to what is lying in wait for you, or even who's trying to zap you from behind.

Even if you've got the stereo on loud, it's so piercing you'll still hear it, so you can concentrate on the road ahead instead of looking out for cameras.

Once you've used a micro RoadPilot, you'll never want to be without it ... it's like driving naked.

To win one of these great units, simply phone 0905 028 0202 and leave your name and address.

Your call will cost just 25p from a BT landline, which is cheaper than a stamp.

Alternatively, text DSMOTOR followed by your name and details to 61616. Texts cost 25p plus your usual network operator rates.

The winners will be chosen by midnight next Thursday, at random from all entries.

Normal Daily Star rules apply.

Good luck folks.

VOLVO's massive and highly successful seven-seat off-roader, the XC90 (above) has finally got the mid-range motor it's been crying out for with the introduction of a 2.5-litre turbo unit. With 210bhp and a whacking 237lbs of torque this vast machine hits 0-62mph in 9.5secs and goes on to 130mph. It starts at just £31,230, which is more than £14,000 cheaper than the top-of-the-range 292bhp 2.9-litre model, yet performance figures are virtually identical. It's also £2,000 cheaper than the XC90 diesel, which could best be described as slow, but safe and comfy.

Baby Beemer is part of the family

DAISY Dosodall was in a very bad mood.

It was Friday morning, she had a hangover and, worse, Mummy had gone out, which meant that she'd have to make her own breakfast.

Daisy couldn't be bothered, so she just had a glass of milk, which she left on the side, because she'd never have considered actually putting it in the dishwasher.

She glanced at the clock and noticed she was already half an hour late for her 11am appointment at the beauty clinic, where she was having her nails done for the second time that week.

She couldn't care less that they would charge for their wasted time. It was on Mummy's account anyway, so she'd pay.

Daisy shut the front door, leaving all the lights on, as usual, and her bedroom looking like a broken-down laundry.

If she was in a bad mood now, things were going to get a lot worse. She fumbled in her handbag for the keys to Mummy's swish BMW 325i Coupé. They weren't there.

In fact, when she looked around the courtyard all she could see was the crummy Mini Cooper that her tight-fisted father had bought for her 20th birthday.

She'd only driven it a couple of times before she promptly

WELL-EQUIPPED: New 1 Series is not a cut-price motor declared it to be common. "My God, even the poor people from that new housing estate have got Minis," she told her parents. "I want a BMW."

Daisy didn't get one, so she simply took Mummy's car whenever she needed it. Not today, though.

Vile

By the time she got to the beauty clinic Daisy was in a vile temper. She parked the Mini, ferociously slammed shut the door and strode through the car park.

To make matters worse she passed a couple of BMWs, but one of them looked odd. She stopped again, walked right round it and noticed the badge on the boot. BMW 116i it said. Daisy smiled.

For the next six months she was going to be the nicest daughter any parents could ask for.

Right up to her 21st birthday, when Daddy would hand her the keys to her very own BMW.

It was lust at first sight. Daisy is, after all, a woman. And like all her girly chums at Le Bistro, she has to be, the poshest of them all.

Forget swish Audis, don't even mention VW Golfs, this is the latest must-have fashion accessory for girls who wear Gucci. And guess what? It's not a bad decision either, because this is actually a very good motor.

I don't know why, but I'd expected BMW to stick their big blue badge on to something that hadn't cost much to make, and which would also feel that way.

In other words, a sell-out that would make them loads of money.

Not a chance. This baby-Beemer has all the good qualities of every BMW I've driven, and with that, too, comes all the bad ones. But hell, this is still, definitely, a BMW.

Solidly built, solid to drive, immensely safe, super-comfy, practical and good looking (apart from 5 Series, which is pig-ugly).

Easy

Step inside, and you could almost be in any BMW. All models come with the big and easy-to-use BMW single-slot CD-stereo, while the instruments, with their white numbers on a black background, with silver surrounds, are smart and purposeful.

The switchgear, like the gearbox, is chunky and slots into place. It all feels so well made and there's a reason for that: It is.

At £15,690 the basic 116i is remarkably well-equipped. The 116i SE (special equipment) model I drove cost £17,640, which puts it up against posh versions of the
